

The screenshot displays a Windows 10 desktop environment. The primary application is Microsoft Outlook, which is open to an email inbox. The inbox contains several messages from 'postmaster@defen' with the subject 'NOTIFICACION ADMISION DE DEMANDA'. The most recent message is selected, and its details are shown in the right-hand pane. This pane displays a red error message indicating that while the email was delivered to the recipients, the destination server did not provide delivery notification information. The background of the desktop shows a Windows taskbar with various application icons and a system clock indicating the date as 10/25/2019.
